DUNNUCK

“Deeply colored, the 2017 Cabernet Sauvignon Lithology is a beautiful, classic wine that offers rock-solid value in Napa Valley today. Cassis, currants, toasted spices, new saddle leather, and dried herb notes all give way to a seamless, sexy, medium to full-bodied beauty that has no hard edges, terrific balance, and just loads of upfront charm and character. The blend is 91% Cabernet Sauvignon and 9% Petit Verdot, from a mix of St. Helena, Oakville, and Rutherford, that was brought up in 60% new French oak.”

“The 2017 Lithology Cabernet Sauvignon Napa Valley is blended of 91% Cabernet Sauvignon and 9% Petit Verdot harvested from September 27 to October 5. It fermented in oak, concrete, stainless and puncheon and aged in 60% new French oak. Very deep garnet-purple in color, it gives up fresh, vibrant, expressive scents of crushed black and red cherries, mulberries and crushed blackcurrants with hints of lavender and pencil lead. Full-bodied, the palate is packed with juicy black fruit with loads of red berry sparks and an approachable, finely grained frame, finishing with lovely harmony. 278 cases produced.” October 31, 2019

“The 2017 Lithology is a terrific introduction to this range from Alejandro Bulgheroni. Ripe red cherry, mint, tobacco, cedar, licorice and mocha infuse the 2017 with striking depth and resonance. Open-knit, racy and inviting, the 2017 Lithology is a winner.” January 2020
